Chairman's Message 2025

Once again, I am delighted to welcome our players, sponsors, Patrons and supporters to this, our 131st Tournament.

As each year goes by, I marvel at how long this special event has been taking place. Many of you will already know that "Fram" is the second oldest Tournament in the UK behind Wimbledon and whilst our predecessor has evolved into the premier tennis event in the world, we continue to provide an event that is both a family affair and one of the stepping stones for young players in their attempts to make a career in tennis.

One of those players is Henry Patten who, having won our singles titles in 2017 and 2019 has now become one of the top doubles players in the world. In the centre pages of this programme, you will find an interview with Henry, conducted by Rose Courteen, which I hope you will take the time to read and enjoy.

We continue to run 57 LTA registered events and this year we will be adding a walking tennis event and our first pickleball invitation event for intermediate players - both events being held on Wednesday. As well as pickleball, padel is growing fast and whilst these alternative racket sports develop, I hope that the appeal of tennis does not suffer. Yes, it is arguably a more difficult game, but it is that difficulty that provides the real challenge and ultimately the excitement when played at the top level.

After 12 years on the committee and 6 in the Chair, this will be my last year. I have enjoyed my time immensely and have worked with and met some fabulous people. Special thanks must go to Christine Janes, our President, my brilliant committee, Rose (our reporter) and Maddie (our photographer), Sam our PR and social media adviser, the LTA officials, the College support team and ground staff and the wider members from the LTA. In leaving this role I would like to thank them all.

My successor will be Billy Richmond who, like me, has a special fondness for this event. We played here as juniors ourselves and I know that the Tournament will continue from strength to strength under his guidance.

Should you yourself feel at risk or should you witness something that you consider to put others at risk, please report this to Richard Daynes, our Welfare Officer. He can be contacted via the Welcome Tent or Control desk.

We are proud of the ongoing relationship between the College and the Framlingham Tennis Tournament and your generosity is a testament to the strength of that connection. Please pass our heartfelt thanks to everyone involved in making this donation possible.

From Framlingham to Centre Court Wimbledon

Written by Rose Courteen

Saturday 6th August 2016 and Saturday 13th July 2024 started the exact same way for Henry Patten. He woke up with his mind focused on the tennis final he was playing later that day. The days ended the exact same too. He won both finals. But there, the similarity ends as in 2016 he won the Men's Singles at Framlingham, and in 2024, he became the Wimbledon Men's Doubles champion.

Henry Patten grew up in Colchester and first started playing tennis in Ipswich. His summers were spent playing grass court events across Suffolk, Norfolk and Essex. Framlingham was always a highlight for him, and his first memories of the Tournament are spending rain delays playing cards with all the other junior players. Although he didn't have much of a junior career, Henry believes that playing the consecutive three weeks in the summer was 'most instrumental' in getting him to where he is today – one of the top doubles players in the world.

"It was a real honour to go and win it... a full circle moment really!"

As with many 18-year-olds, Henry struggled to know which path to take for his future and career and admitted that he was nowhere near mature or good enough to play professionally as soon as he left sixth form. However, he was influenced by two school friends at Culford School who had decided that they would go to America to play tennis.

"I suppose I jumped on the band wagon, and it was the best decision I've ever made," Patten explained.

Henry attended University of North Carolina at Asheville and played a lot of tennis during his time at College. During the summer back at home, he decided to enter some of the same summer

Tournaments he loved so much in his childhood.

"I came back from a really intense year of university in the states and came back and beat everyone – so it was brilliant for me and special to be on that trophy with lots of familiar names on".

When he wins a trophy, one of his favourite things to do is look at the previous winners. After growing up watching some of his coaches play at Framlingham, and at the time thinking they were the best players ever.

"It was a real honour to go and win it... a full circle moment really!"

Throughout College, Patten had played both singles and doubles, and his ranking was around 450 for both specialties. However, 2022 was a record-breaking year which saw his focus shift to pursuing a doubles career. He partnered fellow Brit, Julian Cash, and they were given wild cards into some of the summer Tournaments. The first being Surbiton, which they won. Next was Nottingham where they were runners up before winning Ilkley the following week.

This summer success saw a rapid rise up the world rankings in doubles securing entry in bigger ATP events although this was at the expense of playing singles. They played together the rest of the summer and won several more Challenger Tournaments. As a result, ten titles meant Henry broke the record for the most number of doubles titles won at Challenger level in a year.

So what did he put this sudden success down to?

Henry admitted that: “The most important thing in doubles is choosing a good partner. With a lower ranking it can be by chance who you end up playing with; it depends on who is playing the event and sending them a message, hoping that they will reply. As your ranking improves, you can plan and choose who you want to play with a bit more.”

His partnership with Harri Heliovaara occurred as Harri was training at the National Tennis Centre and Louis Cayer, British doubles tennis expert, suggested that they would work well together. It can be difficult when finding a partner because the tennis needs to work well together, but also hours are spent together in highly competitive environments, so the relationship needs to work on a personal as well as professional level.

For British players, winning a Wimbledon title is the ultimate prize. This dream came true for Henry last year. When the draw came out, Henry and Harri were picked to play fifth seeds Simone Bolelli and Andrea Vavassori. At this point, Henry and Harri, being such underdogs, were solely focused on this match. However, victory in straight sets gave them confidence for the next few rounds.

“We took it one match at a time – it’s a bit of a cliché but you can’t get too ahead of yourselves.”

They faced seeded pairings again in the Quarterfinals and Semifinals but managed to push through and reach the final where they faced the fifteenth seeds, Australian pairing, Max Purcell and Jordan Thompson.

On the morning of the final, Patten explained: “I tried my absolute hardest to act like it was any normal day but gave up after an hour because it was impossible!

Before the match, Patten was able to go and see Centre Court before anyone had entered and was given a little tour, he also met with some school children who were on a trip. He was ‘extremely nervous’ and so appreciative of the distractions to take his mind off the daunting prospect of playing in the biggest match of his life.

When the match finally got underway, Henry, who always serves first, managed to hold serve during the first game which settled his nerves.

“The match was crazy. They were beating us really for the whole match until the very very end.

It’s easier to play as the underdogs and not defending a lead as there is less pressure."

As the Doubles Final took place immediately after the Women's Final, Centre Court was relatively empty when they walked onto the court and started their match.

However, it didn't take long for people to be drawn back to the captivating match taking place and by the end of the match, everyone was on the edge of their seats. All three sets went to a tie-break with Patten and Heliovaara dropping the first 9-7 in the tie-break but winning the second 10-8, after saving three match points. The last set tie-break ended 11-9 with Patten and Heliovaara taking the win on the second time of asking.

"I could never have expected how the match would have ended and the atmosphere it created"

He described the feeling of playing on Centre Court in front of so many British fans as just sheer "disbelief" and to see his whole family and friends from both school and university in the player box was so special.

Following the final they had champagne in the players' area.

"It doesn't really get much better than that!"

Before Wimbledon, Henry never imagined he would win a Grand Slam, but his biggest goal was to qualify for the ATP Finals, at the end of the season in Turin. At the time, this felt 'very ambitious', but they duly achieved qualification and won all their matches in the round robin stage before losing in two tie-break sets at the knockout stage to the world number ones.

Patten would love to achieve the ranking of being world number one in the future but explained how he works on small everyday goals and processes in order to improve as that is something he can control and hopes it will lead to his bigger ambitions in the future.

"You just have to do your best".

Another highlight for Henry last season was being selected to play in the Davis Cup as he confessed:

"I never believed I'd represent my country at anything at all ever!"

He won his debut match in front of a home crowd in Manchester, and he hopes he will be selected again in the future.

A lot can change in eight years. For Henry Patten, the difference was picking up a trophy at Framlingham and picking up a trophy at Wimbledon.

Hopefully, the next eight years will bring Henry even more success and who knows, for those of us competing at College Road this year, the chance to dream big too!

Framlingham Tennis Tournament

A Registered Charity

On 16th January 2018, in our 125th year, Framlingham Tennis Tournament became a Registered Charity.

What have we done?

We became a Charitable Incorporated Organisation (CIO), a relatively new type of Charity structure which is designed specifically for organisations of our size.

You can look us up on the Charity Commission website and our Registered Charity number is 1176689.

Our official purpose is “the promotion of community participation in healthy participation in healthy recreation in particular but not exclusively by the provision of facilities for tennis Tournaments”. Basically that means we continue to run the second oldest tennis Tournament in the country and encourage the improvement of amateur tennis skills for all players!

Why did we become a charity?

The Committee are a bunch of passionate tennis players who believed that in the 125th year we must celebrate the past and even more importantly secure the future of the Tournament in these turbulent times!

To cut a very long story short, we consulted with many of the players, patrons, volunteers and advisory businesses who kindly sponsor the Tournament and together we agreed that becoming a Charity would allow us to:

- Attract and retain more Tournament entrants
- Raise a little more money every year to support the running of the Tournament
- Encourage our special volunteers to get even more involved
- Create a Governance structure that was supportive of our aims

We are determined to keep this fabulous historic family Tournament alive and vibrant!

Was there an impact on the Tournament?

Very little has changed apart from the fact that it is even easier to get involved!

We will still plan, manage and operate the second oldest annual tennis Tournament in the UK, as sanctioned by The Lawn Tennis Association (LTA).

It will continue to open to all tennis players and is organised on a not-for-profit basis with all proceeds reinvested in the Tournament.

Entrance to the grounds to watch the Framlingham tennis Tournament is free! It runs for 6 days from the first Monday of every August.

Naturally, we will continue to review our structure periodically to ensure it meets our goals and actively supports our future.
